How the format works

Every game counts the same, so a Line 3 game is worth exactly as much as a Line 1 game. Build depth, not just a top line.

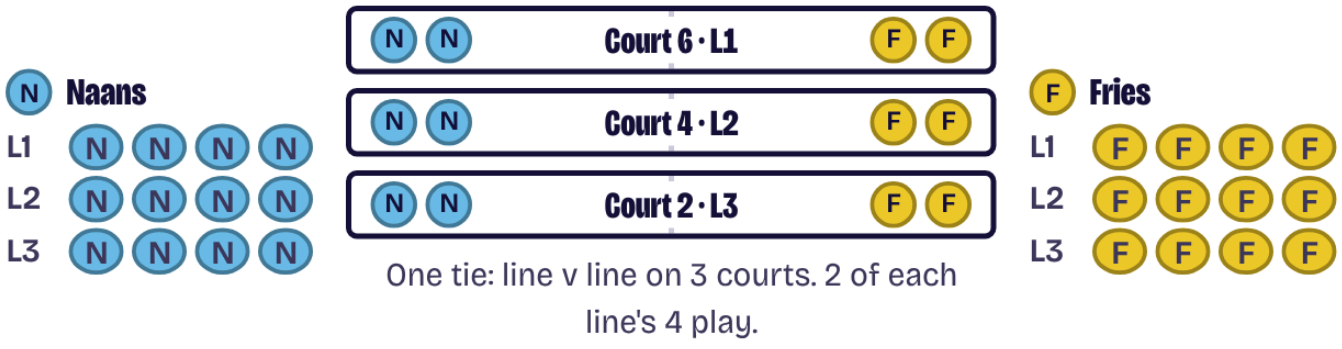

The format

F Sexy Fries · Maria

G Punjabi 69ers · Lydie

S Deconstructed Samosas · Derek

N Naughty Naans · Nico

One tie: line v line on 3 courts. 2 of each line's 4 play.

1 set to 6 · Golden point at deuce · 5–5 → 6–5 · 5 matches each, final incl.

Squad

12 players, 4 in each line. Lines are set by level: top 16 Line 1, next 16 Line 2, the rest Line 3. Nobody changes lines.

Who plays

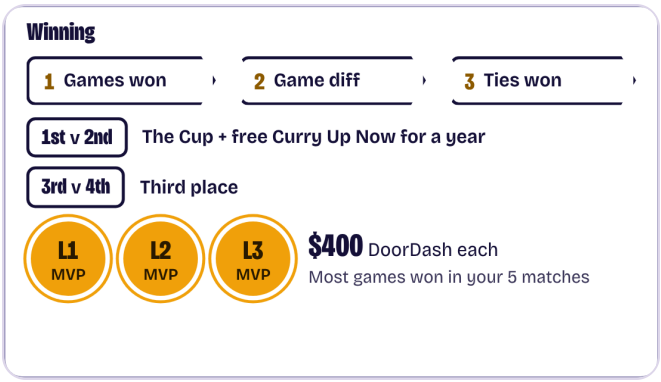

Each line has 10 rounds (9 + the Final). 2 of the line's 4 play each round. Everyone plays exactly 5 and never sits out more than 2 in a row.

Match

One set to 6, golden point at deuce, tiebreak at 5–5 recorded 6–5.

Tie: two squads meet line v line on three courts at once. Tie A plays courts 6 · 4 · 2, Tie B plays 5 · 3 · 1.

Standings

Total games won, then game difference, then ties won.

Finals

1st v 2nd for the Cup, 3rd v 4th for third, played by your Final-column pairs. Games total across three courts; if level, one golden point on all three, best of three. No finals if they can't start by 2:15.

Prizes

Winning squad: free Curry Up Now for a year. Most games won in each line: MVP, $400 DoorDash. Players replaced by a reserve aren't eligible.

Squads and trades

Squads are already set: Cleon and Akash built four balanced squads by level and line, the same way as the Curry Up Now Cup. You get three trade rounds to shape yours before pairings.

Squads posted Final Squads sheet → Round 1 trades → Round 2 trades → Round 3 trades → Squads lock set pairings by Thu

Trade rules

Same line only
A Line 2 player for a Line 2 player, so every squad keeps 4 per line.

One for one
One player out, one player in.

Both captains agree
Nobody can force a trade.

Captains stay put
Everyone else can be traded, including the players first set on Derek's team.

EXAMPLE TRADE · LINE 2

Naans' Line 2 player ⇄ 69ers' Line 2 player

Both still have 4 in Line 2. Only who's in the line changes.

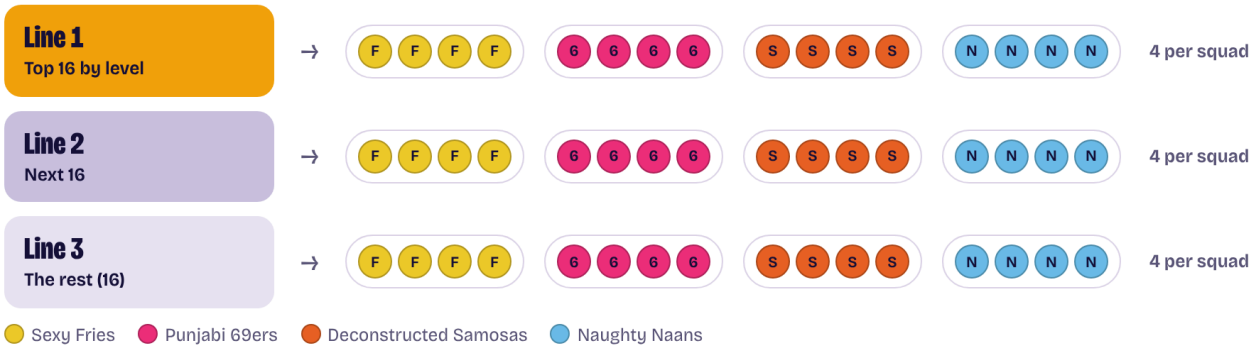

How a round works

1. Akash opens the round in the captains' group and posts the current squads.
2. Propose a trade to another captain: "Our [Line 2 player] for your [Line 2 player]?"
3. Both captains reply "Agreed" in the group. Akash updates the squads.
4. When the round closes, Akash posts the updated Final Squads sheet.
5. After Round 3 the squads lock. Set your pairings by Thursday evening.

Before you trade, check the line averages at the bottom of the Final Squads sheet.

Lines are set by level

Every squad has exactly 4 players from each line. Trades stay inside a line, so nobody changes lines.

Signed up as pairs · a pair only partners if both are in the same line

Ricardo + Derek Lo · Liam + Jeff · Jack Mc... + Kevin W... · Brian + Stephen · Conor + Brandon · Colin + George · Jayson + Ryan · John Leys + Nick · Aditya + Mason F... · Abhijoy + Armaan

Setting your pairings

You decide which two of each line's four play each of the 10 rounds. The kit starts you with a legal rotation: confirm it as is, or adjust it.

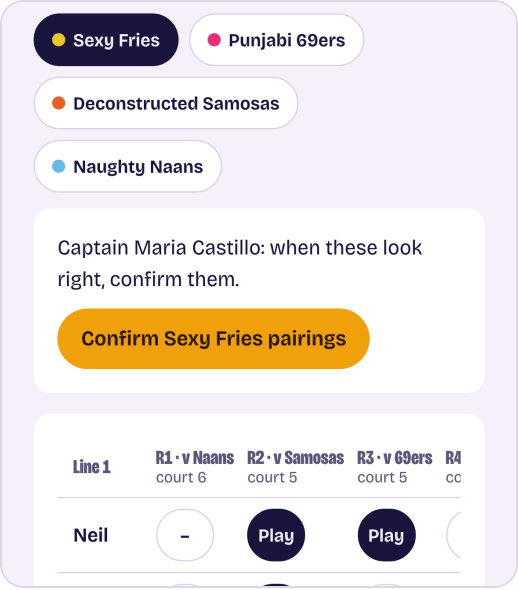

2 players per round

5 matches for every player

≤2 rounds sitting in a row

1. Open the kit and go to the Pairings tab.
2. Tap your squad. Three grids, one per line: rounds 1 to 9 and the Final. Each round shows the opponent and court.
3. To swap, tap Play on who comes off, then – on who goes on.
4. Break a rule and the kit names who: "Neil plays 6, Aditya plays 4: swap one round back."
5. All three lines right? Tap Confirm (top or bottom). Editing later un-confirms it.
6. Akash loads all four squads into the scoreboard. Not confirmed by Thu 6 pm? He confirms your default.

Don't want to change anything? The default follows every rule and your two strongest play the Final. Just tap Confirm.

The Pairings tab on a phone. Scroll sideways for later rounds and the Final.

Tips

- The Final column plays your squad's final for that line, whichever final you reach.
- Got both of a signed-up pair? Keep them on the same rounds.
- Someone who can't stay late shouldn't be in the Final column.

The default rotation for one line

A–D are the line's four players, strongest first. Every player plays 5, sits at most 2 in a row, and partners all three teammates.

	R1	R2	R3	R4	R5	R6	R7	R8	R9	FINAL
A STRONGEST	–	with B	with C	–	–	with D	–	with D	–	with B
B 2ND	–	with A	–	with D	with C	–	with C	–	–	with A
C 3RD	with D	–	with A	–	with B	–	with B	–	with D	–
D 4TH	with C	–	–	with B	–	with A	–	with A	with C	–

Rules to know

Scores
Right after each match, one player per pair sends it from their phone. The score table confirms it.

Late
10 minutes late to a free court is a 6–0 forfeit.

No-shows
A reserve plays under the missing name. Neither can win MVP.

No swaps
Pairs are fixed once the scoreboard is loaded.

Questions
The score table first; they'll get Akash.

Phones
Players tap their name to see their next court and send scores.

After a match: tap our games, theirs, Send.

FAQ

Don't change anything?
The default follows every rule; your two strongest play the Final. Tap Confirm.

Edit after confirming?
Yes, until Akash loads the scoreboard Thursday night. Then confirm again.

A player drops out before Saturday?
Tell Akash. He swaps in a reserve; check that line and confirm again.

A player has to leave early?
Keep them out of late rounds and the Final column.

Who plays the final?
Your Final-column pairs on every line, whichever final you reach.

Who enters scores?
Players send them; only the score table puts them on the board after checking.
